Vol. 34, No. 22 Thursday, Jan. 26, 1984

Campus departments sponsor career symposium

Cal Poly's 5th annual Career Symposium will be 10 am to 3 pm Monday in Chumash Auditorium.

The symposium offers students of all majors an opportunity to explore cooperative education, summer employment and career options with representatives of more than 65 public and private organizations. Seminars will be held on interviewing from the employer's perspective, smoothing the school-to-career transition, career paths for nontechnical majors, and building marketable skills from freshman to senior year.

The symposium is sponsored by Co-Op Education, Placement, Career Development, Student Academic Services, and Relations with Schools.

Plan to participate in the 1984 Career Symposium. Information is available from the Placement Center, ext. 2501, or Co-Op Education, ext. 2645.

Bio Sci to host lecture series

Four Cal Poly faculty and staff members who are experts in their field will be the guest speakers during a series of seminars sponsored by the Education Committee of the Biological Sciences Department.

The seminars will be on Thursdays at 11:10 am in Science B-05. Listed below are the date and topic for each seminar:

Feb. 2 — "How to Get to Where You Want to Go By Using the Chalkboard," Dr. Donald Maas (Education).

Feb. 9 — "Study Skills Deficiencies Experienced by Science Students," Patricia Stewart (Learning Assistance Center).

Feb. 16 — "Techniques and Approaches for Developing Academic Excellence Among Underrepresented Science Students," Locksley Geoghagen (Student Academic Services).

March 1 — "Constructing, Analyzing and Using Classroom Tests," George Stanton (Testing Center).

The seminars are designed to be informative and to promote discussion. Faculty and staff from all departments are invited to attend.

Faculty join forces to plan 'human values' course

Faculty from throughout the CSU system are joining faculty from several Cal Poly departments for a workshop today and Friday titled "Human Values in Agriculture."

Cal Poly participants represent the areas of soil science, agricultural management, crop science, dairy science, political science, social science, history, philosophy, English and biological sciences. The workshop is intended to pave the way for the establishment of an interdisciplinary team-taught course, "Human Values in Agriculture," as well as a general education cluster of courses focusing on public policy issues in agriculture. The workshop guests will be asked to share their experiences in teaching such courses.

The team-taught course and the general education classes would "bring the sciences and humanities together in a way that shows the power and importance of their working together for the solution of the most serious human problems."

Today's workshop is being sponsored by the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities. Funding was provided by an Academic Program Improvement grant from the Chancellor's Office.

Car pooling — the way to go

Are you tired of driving long distances to campus? If so, now is your opportunity to give your car a rest and join a carpool.

Carpooling is not only easy and convenient but a sure way to save money.

A free matchlist will be sent to you with the names and phone numbers of people living near you who share your hours on campus. All home addresses will be kept confidential.

Call 541-CARS for more information, and join a carpool today!

Payday: Jan. 31

Zip code, area code changes

The CSU headquarters in Long Beach and three of the CSU campuses now have nine-digit zip codes: Bakersfield, 93311-1099; San Diego, 92182-0763; San Jose, 95192-0005; and Headquarters, 90802-4275.

The area code for CSU Northridge has been changed from 213 to 818. This is a result of the split of the 213 area into two smaller areas.

Change in Univ. Club schedule

The University Club program planned for Feb. 2 has been changed. The new program will be "Dressing With Style," a fashion show presented by Lynda Flynn, a local businesswoman.

The time and place are unchanged: noon in the Staff Dining Room.

The Escort Service is for YOU

The Interfraternity Council Escort Service was created to ensure the safety of anyone walking on campus at night. It is conducted by the IFC and the Public Safety Department.

The service is available every Sunday through Thursday from 7 pm to midnight at the University Union or at the Library, or by calling ext. 1409.

Don't hesitate to request an escort! Use this invaluable service and be safe — not sorry.

If it breaks, don't throw it out. .

The Art Department is in need of items to be used as props for drawing classes. Used, worn and even broken goods often are more interesting to draw than new ones.

Donations can be left at the Art Department Office in the Air Conditioning and Engineering Building.

Insurance rep here Tuesday

A representative of Occidental Life of California will be in the Staff Dining Room from 9 to 11 am Tuesday. Ron Gifford will answer employees' questions about the Cal Western/Occidental Basic and Major Medical Health Insurance which is sponsored by the Public Employees' Retirement System. Appointments are not necessary.

Cal Poly Report is published weekly during the academic year by the Public Affairs Office.

Cathy Rathbone (Editor) ext. 1511
Betty Holland (Graphics Tech.) ext. 1511

Typewritten, double-spaced copy may be submitted for Cal Poly Report by the close of business the Thursday prior to the next publication.

$69 million a year needed for CSU facilities

An average of $69 million a year over the next decade is needed for state-funded facilities in The California State University, according to a report to the Governor's Task Force for Infrastructure Review.

The total comes to $687.3 million by 1994. Along with new construction, the report says, major outlays will be required to update and remedy deficiencies in the CSU's aging physical plant.

In addition, the CSU operates self-support programs which have significant needs for non-state monies for capital expenditures. Over the next 10 years 14,000 student housing spaces totaling $259 million will be needed, along with more than $30 million to update student housing facilities, which are at least 25 years old, plus parking spaces costing $15 million. Housing and parking facilities typically are financed through revenue bonds paid off by user fees.

San Diego planner is new assistant vice chancellor

Sheila M. Chaffin has been named assistant vice chancellor, physical planning and development by Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds of The California State University. Her appointment, effective Feb. 9, ends a nationwide search which began last fall, following the retirement of Assistant Vice Chancellor James Westphall.

Since 1980 Chaffin has been deputy director of the Department of Planning and Land Use for San Diego County. She also served as chief of planning and as senior planner of capital facilities for San Diego County from 1977 to 1980. She earned a bachelor of architecture degree from the University of Southern California and a master of regional planning degree from Cornell University, New York.

Who, What, When, Where

William M. Alexander, Political Science, delivered a paper on "Making the Right Political Choices to Alleviate the Food Crisis—Africa" at the African Studies Association meetings in Boston Dec. 9.

Patti Hamer Breckenridge, Ornamental Horticulture, attended the annual national convention of the American Society of Landscape Architects held in Indianapolis Nov. 19-23. She represented the Central Coast Chapter-Section of ASLA.

Patti Hamer Breckenridge, Ornamental Horticulture, was named the Outstanding Adviser of the Year for 1982-83 from the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources. She has been adviser to the OH Club for the past four years and is the first woman to receive this honor.

William L. Preston, Social Sciences, served as moderator for two campus showings of the controversial Canadian film, "Acid Rain: Requiem or Recovery?" on Nov. 30. In conjunction with each showing, Preston led a lecture and discussion session. The program was sponsored by Cal Poly Ecology Action and the Wildlife Club.

John C. Phillips, Crop Science, and agriculture graduate student Roderick Rollins are co-authors of an article, "Harvest Losses of Chickpea in California," published in the June 1983 issue of International Chickpea Newsletter.

Richard L. Warren, Education, has had a chapter published in Multicultural Education: a Challenge for Teachers (Foris, The Netherlands, 1983). The title is "The Application of Ethnographic Research in Multicultural Education." Warren also presented a paper, "The Educational Anthropologist in a College of Education: Participant Observation, Advocacy, and Connections" and chaired a session on "Ethical Issues in Educational Anthropology" at the annual meeting of the American Anthropological Association in Chicago, Nov. 16-20.

Donald Van Acker, Public Safety, was elected president of the California College and University Environmental Health and Safety Association, a professional organization dedicated to maintaining safer campuses in the state of California. CCUEHSA promotes effective health and safety standards, regulations and resources which benefit community college, college and university health and safety programs.

John B. Connely, Liberal Studies, served on a panel at the annual Far Western Philosophy of Education Conference Dec. 2-4 at USC. The panel topic was Mortimer J. Adler's Paideia Proposal.

Walt Bremer, Landscape Architecture, taught a microcomputer workshop Dec. 8-9 at Cal Poly Pomona as part of a departmental exchange program intended to foster a better relationship and increase the exchange of information between the two campuses. An instructor from Pomona's Landscape Architecture Department will come to San Luis Obispo sometime this quarter.

Bud West, Agricultural Education, coordinated a special leadership training workshop for 40 of California's elected leaders of the teachers of vocational agriculture. This one-day activity was held in Anaheim in conjunction with the National Vocational Agriculture Teachers' Association and featured guest speakers from Oklahoma, Arizona, Hawaii and California.

Donald M. Coats, Educational Services, was re-elected vice chair of the Central Coast Higher Education Council. The council serves as a liaison for Cal Poly, UC, Santa Barbara, Ventura College, Santa Barbara City College, Cal Lutheran, Cuesta College, Oxnard College, Cal State Northridge, Westmont College, Allan Hancock College, and Moorpark College in their common goal of achieving quality education.

Robert K. Coe, Management, presented a paper, "Evaluating Journal Publications of Management Professors: A Second Look," with I. Weinstock, at the 1983 Mountain Plains Management Conference in October.

Robert K. Coe, Management, wrote a paper titled "Evaluating the Finance Professor's Journal Publications: The Department Chair's Perspective," with I. Weinstock, which was published in The Journal of Financial Research, Winter 1983.

Nancy A. Jorgensen, Counseling Center, was the invited resource person for management training for the Arroyo Grande Community Hospital Jan. 5 at the Hospital Conference Center. Ms. Jorgensen's topic was "Overcoming Public Speaking Anxiety."
